

A change that will take your business to greater heights

American Equipment Finance is now part of Ascentium Capital

AMERICAN EQUIPMENT
FINANCE

What does this mean for you? Ascentium Capital is a direct lender and offers greater access to financing that will help your business grow. And, we provide more options for the most effective and innovative financing and leasing.

At Ascentium Capital, we understand that the gas station/C-store environment is fast-paced and highly competitive. As such, you need financing solutions that address your day-to-day operational expenses, as well as business growth and expansion. Whether you're a jobber with multiple locations or an independent with a single station, we'll provide financing options that contribute to better cash flow management, and ultimately, to a more profitable operation.

Our industry experts can help you determine the finance options that are just right for you.
